Exercice 1 – Compréhension de l'écrit : un récit

(4 pts)

Document 1. Extract from a British teenager's travel diary.

« Friday, 8 pm. We have been in Lisbon for three days now, and I've already taken 400 photos. This morning, we were walking along the river when a tram nearly hit my brother: he was looking at his phone, as usual! Dad shouted at him for five minutes. Then we visited the castle; I had read about it before the trip, so I knew all the stories. Tonight, we're eating in a tiny restaurant that Mum found online — she books everything weeks in advance. Tomorrow, we're going to take the train to Sintra, and I'm sure it will be the best day of the holiday. We fly home on Sunday at 6 pm. I don't want to leave: I have never liked a city so much. »

- How long has the family been in Lisbon, and what has the writer already done?
- What happened this morning, and why? Answer with two full sentences.
- Why did the writer know all the stories about the castle? Quote the sentence and name the tense used.
- List the family's plans for tonight, tomorrow and Sunday, and give the tense used for each one.

Exercice 2 – Compréhension de l'écrit : lecture d'un tableau

(4 pts)

Document 2. Timetable of an exchange student's week in Marseille (today is Wednesday evening).

Day	Activity	Status
Monday	Arrival, welcome dinner with the host family	done
Tuesday	Visit of the Old Port and the MuCEM	done
Wednesday	Lessons at school (9:00-16:00), football match (17:00)	match in progress
Thursday	Boat trip to the Frioul islands (departure 9:30)	booked
Friday	Cooking workshop: bouillabaisse	planned
Saturday	Return flight to Manchester, 11:20	ticket bought

- Which activities has the student already done? Write one sentence in the present perfect using « already ».
- What is happening right now (Wednesday, 17:30)? Write one sentence in the present continuous.
- Write two sentences about Thursday and Saturday, using a different future form for each (« be going to », present continuous or present simple for a timetable).
- On Sunday, the student writes to the host family. Rewrite the Tuesday line as a sentence in the preterite, then the Monday line in the past perfect starting with « By Tuesday, ... ».
